Rochester Hills Mayor Bryan Barnett, left, and Shelleen McHale, director of marketing at the Village of Rochester Hills, next to a reproduction of “Animals in a Landscape” by Franz Marc on Monday. The reproduction is on display at the outdoor mall’s Fountain Park as part of the Detroit Institute of Arts’ Inside|Out program. Rochester Hills is one of eight Oakland County communities participating this year in the program, which puts reproductions of museum pieces on display in outdoor public places. Inside|Out includes community weekends for participating cities where residents can visit the museum, receive discounts at the CaféDIA, museum shop and elsewhere, as well as see the original art that was reproduced and displayed outdoors. Rochester Hills’ community weekend is May 4-5.
